The Bulletin
of the Associate Alumnae of Barnard College

PUBLISHED BY THE ASSOCIATE ALUMNAE
NEW YORK CITY

The Alumnae "at homes" are still being held in the Undergraduate Study every Monday afternoon, four until six.

The report on the Intercollegiate Bureau of Occupations will interest you. See page 3.

Are you interested in tennis, baseball, hockey, swimming, horseback riding or tramping? If so, notify the Chairman of the Alumnae Athletics Committee and she will keep you informed about your particular sport. Miss L. Schoedler, 249 W. 107th Street.

Are you a member of the Associate Alumnae? If not, see page 15.

THE BULLETIN

Of the Associate Alumnae

Vol. III

APRIL, 1914

No. 2

To the Class of 1914 Alumnae about-to-be, this number of the Bulletin is particularly addressed as both an invitation and a welcome to our ranks. We hope that every member of the Class will join the Association and share in its work and its benefits. Particularly do we urge each and every one to increase the popularity of the Bulletin by contributing news items, criticisms and suggestions.

To our former readers greeting! To our critics acknowledgment for profitable suggestions! To our contributors—the many Chairmen, Class Secretaries, club officers and friends, who have contributed so generously to our requests for information—sincere and unbounded thanks! Limited space alone deters us from printing in full all their interesting reports. But alas! We must cut our pattern according to our cloth and our cloth is very limited. Indeed so low are our funds, that we must reduce our expenses. Therefore, we are obliged to limit our circulation, and consequently, the Alumnae Bulletin will hereafter be sent only to members of the Association.

THE QUARTER CENTURY FUND

The Benefit Performance of Madame Butterfly with Farrar, Martinelli and Scotti, at the Metropolitan Opera House on Saturday evening, January third, resulted in the substantial sum of $6,046.35. The performance of the Opera was a brilliant one and Farrar was in specially fine voice. An interesting feature was the able speech in behalf of the college by the Hon. John Purroy Mitchell, Mayor of New York, who was splendidly introduced by Dean Gildersleeve. The college touch was given by the sale of souvenir programmes by recent graduates and undergraduates dressed in cap and gown.

The Committee, Mabel Parsons, Chairman, wishes to thank once more the seven Alumnae Backers: Miss V. C. Gildersleeve, Mrs. A. F. Hess, Mrs. E. Meyer, Jr., Mrs. H. Parsons, Mrs. O. M. Reid, Mrs. C. C. Rumsey and Mrs. G. C. Speranza; and the Associate Alumnae, in turn, seizes the opportunity to express its appreciation of the magnificent work of the committee.

Groups of Alumnae are achieving wonders. It is interesting and stimulating to know about the remarkable work of our first class, the class of '93, which consisted of eight girls. The seven now living have given to the fund $575 as a memorial to the eighth member. The class of '96 has given $1,100; '99, $1,338; '04, $1,222, and '11, $1,309. The other classes have contributed lesser amounts, making a total of $12,019.

Money has also been raised by alumnae in groups other than by classes.

Alpha Phi Fraternity gave $250. The Jersey City Alumnae gave a bridge party by which they raised $157. The Staten Island Alumnae gave, with the assistance of the New York University Glee Club, an entertainment at which they netted $190. Other alumnae held a musical at which Hans Kronold was the soloist. From this they cleared $220. Total from or through alumnae, $26,685. In all, about $500,000 has so far been raised for the endowment fund.

The Undergraduates expect to add a substantial sum from the proceeds of the Ysaye Benefit Performance to be held on March 13.

THE GALA LUNCHEON

"Gala Luncheon" was the official title of the festivities of the Associate Alumnae of Barnard, held at the Hotel Savoy, February 21, in honor of Barnard's twenty-fifth anniversary. And gala, it certainly was! There were about 200 guests altogether, and these included a number of distinguished guests of honor: Dr. Katharine B. Davis, Commissioner of Correction; the Hon. George McAneny, President of the Board of Aldermen, and Miss Van Kleeck, of the Intercollegiate Bureau of Occupations. A number of our trustees were also present, and the Undergraduate and Senior presidents.

The luncheon was a very elaborate and charming affair. It was followed by several interesting speeches.

Of special concern to alumnae was the Dean's talk. After telling of the progress of the Building Fund, she announced that plans were being formed whereby the alumnae would be able to participate in the Quarter Century Fund Celebration to be held in the fall. She then spoke of the phenomenal growth of the college, almost an overgrowth, since, in our present building, a Freshman class of 220 is too large. Next year the entering class will be limited by some means or other to 200. The seriousness with which the undergraduates are attacking the problem of evolving a social life which shall not be broken up into small undemocratic social groups like the fraternities, and which shall nevertheless afford to all, the benefits these organizations undoubtedly gave to a limited number, is interesting and suggestive.

DEAN GILDERSLEEVE AT HOME

In order that an opportunity to know Barnard better may be offered to some New Yorkers at least, Dean Gildersleeve will be at home in her office at the College on Tuesday afternoons in March and April, from four to five-thirty o'clock. She will be glad to meet any friends, influential in the varied interests of the New York world, whom the alumnae may bring up.

THE INTERCOLLEGIATE BUREAU OF OCCUPATIONS

By so many is the I. B. O. regarded merely as an employment agency subsidized by alumnae organizations for the benefit of non-teaching graduates, that it seems worth while to point out that the filling of positions is but one of its functions and not, in the eyes of its founders, the principal one. Its chief concern is with investigation and it is as a research, and not as an employment agency, that it asks support from the alumnae of the colleges.

As we explained last year, the I. B. O. was founded in 1911 by the New York alumnae organizations of Barnard, Bryn Mawr, Cornell, Mt. Holyoke, Radcliffe, Smith, Vassar, Wellesley and Wells, each of which contributed a sum equal to not less than a dollar per member for the first year, and half that amount the two succeeding years and probably for at least three years more; i. e., five years of experiment. Barnard gave $1,000 the first year and as our membership is not much over 700, the assessments are proving very heavy. We feel that if all the alumnae can be roused to the significance of the Bureau's work the necessary funds will be readily forthcoming.

As an employment agency, the Bureau has had phenomenal success; for although charging applicants but a dollar registration fee and a small percentage of their salary, and only recently charging employers anything, it is rapidly becoming self-supporting. It has filled 700 positions in about sixty different lines exclusive of teaching, and has given advice to 3,000 who did not register. For social workers, the demand was so great that this profession was given a department by itself, and through the kindness of private endowment, has been made almost wholly independent of support from the co-operating organizations.

As a research laboratory the I. B. O. has been equally successful, but naturally it has been a financial failure, for research costs much, and repays little in immediate cash. It is the object of the Bureau to find out what the various openings for women are; what the qualifications and training demanded; what the salary and the working conditions. This information, gathered partly from the statistics of the Employment Division, and partly from the experience of employers and employees, will be supplied not only to applicants at the Bureau, but also will be presented in public lectures and in more detailed talks to college undergraduates. By this means, those who have already graduated will know what steps to take to adjust their work to their liking, and the girls still in college will be given information to enable them to make a wise first choice. Incidentally, much will be found out about women's work, women's training, and women's wages in general, and light will be cast upon the problems of the large class of untrained workers, as well as upon those of the skilled.

To this end, the Bureau employs trained investigators, the results of whose work is summarized in the elaborate and indispensable Report recently issued. The demand and opportunities for institutional housekeepers, dietitians, secretaries, and experienced and specialized social workers, is exceptionally large. The Bureau also arranged a series of Vocational Conferences. Representatives of widely different professions and lines of work agreed that four elements most needed for success are: robust health—which can be preserved only by conserving energy in youth—an attractive personality, an alert mind, and special training for the elected line of work. To undergraduates an early decision of what this training is to be, is most important. The Barnard committee on Employment, has therefore, arranged with Miss Snow, the Bureau's Research Secretary, for an address on different vocations, to be given at Barnard on April 29 at four o'clock, to which all alumnae are cordially invited.

The value of the Bureau's work is unquestioned and must be continued at all costs. An undertaking dealing so broadly with the economic position of women and throwing so much light on the wise choice of occupation is particularly worthy of the support of college women. Barnard, with its many New York members, profits tremendously and should not fail to retain its place among the most important co-operating members.

THE ALUMNAE COMMITTEE ON ATHLETICS

All the energies of the Committee on Athletics are concentrated on the general athletic work on Monday and the horse-back class on Friday evenings.

The popularity of the Monday activities has not waned one bit. Alumnae are now forming definite teams in water polo and basket-ball and some of the intercollegiate games have already been played off. As these are the first intercollegiate games in which Barnard has ever participated, and the first regular series in which any of the colleges have ever taken part, they are arousing a great deal of interest.

The committee's riding class, with about fifty members, has been meeting every Friday evening since November at the Central Park Riding Academy. For a fee of ten dollars, each member has had the privilege of eight two hour rides, and the fee has included instruction in riding, drill, polo, equestrian basket-ball and simpler games. Before the end of the season, teams will be organized in polo and in basket-ball on horseback, and the very first college games ever arranged in these sports will be played off.

Plans for the spring and summer are still tentative. This summer the committee will again take charge of the tickets of admission for alumnae to the Barnard courts. As last year, they may be obtained from the Chairman for seventy-five cents. They will entitle a player to use the courts at any time from the close of college in June to its opening in September. Each holder of a ticket will probably be allowed to bring one woman guest. Men will, in all likelihood, not be allowed to use the courts. Before the end of the summer, the Committee will hold a tennis tournament, and alumnae applying for tickets should state whether or not they wish to enter their names for this. A match game between the alumnae and undergraduate champions will be arranged and will probably be played off on the afternoon of the day set for the annual fall meeting of the Alumnae Association.

Hockey and baseball practices and games will be held on the campus on Saturday afternoons as soon as weather conditions will permit. Other colleges will be represented, and the Committee hopes to arrange a series of good inter-collegiate games. Outdoor horseback rides and possibly "hikes" (we like it better than tramps) will also be planned for the spring and fall.

The Committee's plans are being undertaken on so large a scale that it will scarcely be possible to send out announcements for every separate activity. Alumnae who are interested, therefore, will find it wise to send their names and addresses to the Chairman, with a statement of the activities about which they would like information. They will then be notified of the plans for those activities as soon as they are definitely decided upon. This method, it is hoped, will save an already overworked committee an endless amount of clerical labor.

The Committee realizing how greatly its success depends upon co-operation, hopes that alumnae will feel free at all times to ask questions and to offer criticisms and suggestions for its work. All communications should be addressed to Lillian Schoedler, Chairman, at 249 West 107 Street, New York City.

AFFILIATION WITH THE ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGIATE ALUMNAE

Mrs. Mullan, Chairman, reports that Barnard is now affiliated with the Association of Collegiate Alumnae and entitled to send six delegates to the national convention to be held in Philadelphia during the Easter week. Our representatives will be: Eva S. Potter, '96, Mrs. Robert S. Woodward, '01, Carita Spencer, '02, Lucile Kohn, '03, Charlotte E. Morgan, '04, Mrs. Wm. Klaber, '08 and Mrs. R. W. Lawrence, '02, Councillor.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

The Editors would like to start a discussion page. There must be many activities and policies about which you would like to express your opinions. Let us know what you think about this scheme. Send us your views on the curtailment of the Bulletin's circulation. Have you any suggestions for the Monday afternoon teas? Let us know your opinion of the I. B. O. and what you think the best way to raise our share of the necessary funds. But most of all we want to know what you think about the employment of an Alumnae Secretary to do the clerical drudgery; the voluntary workers would continue to do the planning and to shape the policy of the Association. The Committee which is investigating the ways and means of the alumnae organizations of other colleges finds that results justify such an expenditure. For $600 or thereabouts, we could secure the services of a secretary who would keep the membership up to date, send out notices of meetings, keep track of committees and know the thousand and one things that distracted chairmen are constantly seeking for and seldom discovering.

Letters for this page must be accompanied by their writers' names and addresses but may be printed anonymously or signed in any way the writers please.

FACULTY NOTES

Professor Braun of the German Department and Professor Kasner of the Mathematics Department are spending their leave of absence for this semester in Europe.

Provost Brewster is one of the editors of the Home University Library.

Professor Farrand has resigned to become President of the University of Colorado.

Professor Grace Hubbard has been granted a sabbatical leave of absence for next year.

UNDERGRADUATE ACTIVITIES

THE RELIGIOUS AND PHILANTHROPIC ORGANIZATIONS.

The Christian Association, the Craigie Club, the Church Club and the College Settlement Association continue to work together under the direction of Miss Mary A. Patchin. The four clubs unite in editing the Barnard College Calendar, in dressing dolls for the Settlement Christmas gifts, in raising money through entertainments for the salary of the Director; in helping by means of social functions to spread a friendly spirit throughout the college.

Individually, the societies are all doing good work. The most interesting items concerning the Christian Association are the course in "The Modern Sunday School" given by Professor George Coe of Union Seminary, and the active part that it is taking in preparation for the lectures on "Modern Religion", to be given at Columbia in "campaign week" by Dr. John R. Mott. The Craigie Club and the Church Club are carrying on their regular activities. To the College Settlement Association has been turned over the supplying of social helpers. About forty girls are giving time to this work.

In addition, the organizations have tried to suggest a speaker for the chapel exercises at least once each month, each society in turn being responsible for the attendance at its particular service.

CONSTANCE VON WAHL MEMORIAL PRIZE BENEFIT.

On Friday, March 20th, and Saturday, March 21st, at 8 P.M., in Brinckerhoff Theater, a few young men and women are going to present "The Tragedy of Nan," by John Masefield, and "The Shoes that Danced," by Anna H. Branch, for the Constance von Wahl Memorial Prize Benefit of Barnard College.

Among those taking part are: Mildred and Nanette Hamburger, Mr. Frederick Morris, Miss Tumaner, etc.

WIGS AND CUES.

Wigs and Cues is proving a great success. The production of plays, drama competition, in fact everything relating to the stage is now under the jurisdiction of Wigs and Cues. The successful presentation of "Mice and Men" gives promise that the college plays, formerly run by the "Undergrad. Association," will be even better given—if that be possible.

From time to time, noted artists have addressed meetings of the Society on dramatic subjects. Cyril Maude honored the organization and the college at large, with an interesting talk on acting; Mr. Daniel Frohman and Mr. Mackay addressed the January meeting. After the latter's entertaining discussion of laughter there was a reception.

At present, the association is busy considering the material received in its completion of one-act plays. The winning plays will be produced by Wigs and Cues in the spring. It is hoped that such competitions will arouse a general and intelligent interest in the drama and its possibilities.

A new social organization, The Phoebe Birds, has just been organized. Precisely what constitutes eligibility for membership we do not know, but the Phoebes are to sing and be merry.

The Suffrage Club has reorganized as a Woman's Forum for the discussion of all subjects dealing with women's interests.

ALUMNAE NOTES

THE BARNARD BOTANICAL CLUB.

The Club contributed fifty dollars toward the equipment of the fine greenhouse which has just been built on the roof of Fiske Hall and which was made possible by the special Fiske fund. It is a charming and valuable addition to the college. Instead of the spring tea the Club is planning a field trip.

The officers of the Club are: Amy Goodlatte, President; Professor Richards and Mrs. H. M. Thomas, Vice-Presidents; Helene M. Boas, Secretary; and Dorothy Spear, Treasurer.

THE WOMEN'S UNIVERSITY CLUB.

Mrs. Ogden Mills Reid ('03) superintended the furnishing of the Club's new ten-story building at No. 106 East Fifty-second Street. Vassar was responsible for the library, Smith for the living room, Barnard for the reception room, the University of Chicago for the dressing room, and Wells for the silver.

'94 Estelle Demarest is with the Century Company. Lida Jones is an instructor in the Biological Laboratory of the Mount Vernon High School.

'95 Mrs. Francis B. Thurber (Priscilla Lockwood) has returned from Paris where she has been living for two years, and is now residing at Scarsdale, New York.

'02 Mrs. F. B. Sumner (Margaret Clark) is now living in Berkeley, Cal.

Mrs. G. L. Close (Edna Chapin) is Chairman of the Mount Vernon committee for the Quarter Century Fund.

'03 Helen L. Cohen is principal of one of the annexes of the Washington Irving High School.

Clare M. Howard has published a book entitled "English Travellers of the Renaissance," which has been highly commended both for its substance and its charming style. Columbia will confer the Ph.D. on Miss Howard this Commencement.

Mildred Miller Appleton expects to live in Harrisburg, Penn., after April 1st, 1914. Dr. Appleton has accepted a call to St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church in that city.

'04 Florence Beeckman is Vice-President and Mrs. Caples is Secretary of the Women's Graduate Club of Columbia University.

Betty Trier Berry passed her bar examinations last fall and is now practising law in Los Angeles, Cal. Her address is 721 Golden Avenue.

Mabel Compton is teaching English in Oxford College, Oxford, Ohio.

Charlotte E. Morgan read a paper on "The History of the Letters of Abelard and Heloise," at the convention of the Modern Language Society of America, held at Harvard University last December.

'05 Mary E. Calhoun is teaching English in Wilson College.

Helen L. Palliser, who is to receive her M.D. from the Cornell Medical School in June, is one of two women to pass the examination for interne at Bellevue Hospital. This is the first time that a woman has been appointed at that institution.

'07 Judith Bernays is assistant to the editor of the "Nation."

Mrs. E. M. Greene (Helen Carter) and her husband are spending the latter's leave of absence from Butler College, in Europe.

An article by Helen J. Harvitt is being published in the "Revue du XVI. Siècle", Paris.

Hazel Henderson is teaching English in the Bushwick High School.

Mary Lipe has been studying in the University of Berlin.

Juliet S. Poyntz is giving a course in history at the Rand School of Social Science.

Sophie Woodman is assistant in history at the Evan-der Childs School.

Mrs. P. Walcott (Anne Goedkoop) is taking a course in public accounting.

'08 Marguerite Straus Marks is here on a visit from Germany.

Mrs. Wm. T. Webb (Mary Murtha) and her husband sailed for Porto Rico where the latter will supervise the harbor construction work. Their address is c/o U. S. Engineer Office, San Juan.

'09 Jessie Cochran is with the Century Company.

Helen Hoyt is an editor of the "Poetry Magazine" in Chicago.

Ruth Stowall is principal of the Madison Academy, Madison, N. J.

Irene Thompson is teaching history at the Bushwick High School.

Eva vom Baur spoke at the annual luncheon of the Jersey City College Club on February 28. Ethel Hodsdon was Chairman of the Arrangements Committee. The club includes many Barnard graduates among its members.

'10 Marian L. Gibson is teaching in the Alcuin School.

Florence Hopewell has a position in the Rockefeller Institute.

Dorothy Kirchwey is an assistant to the Industrial Relations Commission in Washington.

Christella MacMurray has a position in the Hasbrouck Heights High School.

Hazel Waite is teaching in the Red Bank High School.

'11 Helen Bradbeer is completing the requirements for the bachelor's degree.

Juanita Brown has been appointed to a position in domestic science in Wakefield and Melrose High School.

Ruth Carroll is teaching in Dudley Hill, Massachusetts; and Louise Greenawalt at Madison Academy, Madison, N. J.

Eugenia Ingermann has returned from Paris where she has been studying medicine for the last two years, and is completing her course at the Cornell Medical College in New York City.

'12 Pauline Cahn is teaching in the Alcuin School.

Irene Glenn holds an interesting position with the Travellers' Aid Society.

Mildred Hamburger has a position in the Woodmere Academy, Woodmere, L. I.

Phoebe Hoffman is teaching in the Benjamin School; Eleanor Myers in the Jacoby School; Gladys Segee in the Mount Vernon High School, and Dorothy Spear in Freeport.

'13 Hella Bernays is an organizer for the Women's Political Union.

Dorothy Cheesman is playing in the "Laughing Husband."

MARRIAGES

'01 Alma F. Wallach to Alfred Liebman.

'03 Alice Bamberger to Jan Cochery.

'04 Grace Leigh to Max Roger-DeBruyn of Antwerp, Belgium.

'06 Evelyn Goldsmith to Dr. Leo Kassel.

Edna Stitt to the Rev. Millard L. Robinson, Secretary of the New York Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The ceremony was in Grace Methodist Church, and the attendants included Sarah Rome and Helen Newbold of '09.

'08 May Quinn to Richard E. Smith, an artist of New York City.

Cecilia Sillcox to Dr. William C. Garvin.

'09 Edith Joseph to J. O. Phillips.

Elsie Smith to Charles J. Bard. Mr. and Mrs. Bard plan to homestead in Canada. At present, they are staying in Edmonton, the capital of the province of Alberta, in which they expect to file their claim.

May Stark to M. Hildesheimer of Buckinghamshire, England, where she now makes her home.

- '10 Edna M. Fancher to J. Ferris Darling.
 Ethel Lawrence to Dr. Guy Halifax Wallace.
 Ethel Weston to A. Welch.
- '11 Agnes Denike to Joseph N. Murray in the North Presbyterian Church. The bridesmaids included Otilie Prochaska and Penelope Girdner of '11 and Irene Dalglish of '12.
- '12 Lucile Mordecai to Harold Lieber.
- '13 Grace D. Brown to B. M. Manning.

REASONS FOR JOINING THE ASSOCIATE ALUMNAE OF BARNARD COLLEGE

The Associate Alumnae includes in its membership anyone who has been credited with a year's work at Barnard and therefore affords the opportunity to meet again all former students of the college, many of whom are now filling important places in the community. It has a meeting in the fall, a luncheon in midwinter, and a gala reunion at Commencement, besides teas in the Undergraduate Study every Monday afternoon.

It publishes a Bulletin at least twice a year which gives information in regard to all the interests of the college: its administration, organizations, meetings and new policies. It contains full accounts of the activities of the Alumnae Association and of its individual members: marriages and deaths, positions and changes of address, books written by them and honors conferred upon them. The annual dues of $1.00 cover the subscription to the magazine.

The Association is affiliated with the Collegiate Alumnae and is a co-operating member of the Intercollegiate Bureau of Occupations, both of which are taking an active part in moulding the education of women.

The Association is doing much in behalf of the college: it is raising money for the Building Fund; through the Students' Aid Fund it assists needy students to secure a college training; its committee on vocational guidance advises undergraduates on their choice of employment; and its committee on Athletics has made arrangements whereby alumnae of all colleges may enjoy special athletic privileges.
